

This proposal is ridiculous. As a consumer I need to know the traffic conditions of major cities as I travel through them. Satellite radio is the only reliable way to get this information. It is also in the national interest to make traffic conditions easily accessible. Energy waste is minimized if motorists understand how to avoid severe traffic conditions.